

Curriculum Vitae

Vito Belladonna. Degree in Hydraulic Engineering at the University of Bologna 1985.

Since 2012 general manager of ATERSIR, Emilia Romagna Regional Authority for water and solid waste utilities, the economic and technical regulator of the sectors in Emilia-Romagna.

Since 1997 (year of foundation) member of Ricicla/Ecomondo Scientific Committee.

Since 2008 member of Ecoscienza, journal of Arpa (Environmental Protection Agency of Emilia-Romagna Region).

From 2002 to 2008 Director of Arpa Emilia-Romagna, Department of Bologna.

From 2008 2012 Technical Director of Arpa Emilia-Romagna

His main fields of activity are: hydraulic structures and water-flow networks design, environmental management, management of public agencies involved in environmental policy (monitoring and modelling of different environmental components, management and surveillance of the environmental and territorial impacts of human activities, activities relevant to environmental impact assessment of plans and projects).

He is author and co-author of technical papers published on national and international journals and has participated to several conference and to many Italian and European research projects (EU INNOVATION 103401 (1996-1999) “Application for the Urban Pollution Management Procedure to River Quality Protection in European Member States; INTERREG IV C “Water CoRe Scarcity and droughts – Coordinated activities in European Regions”; Research MIUR MICARI (2002-2004) “Tools and procedures to enhance the receiving capacity of surface water bodies”; Life AQUA “Adoption of Quality water use in Agro-industry sector”).